Going beyond regulatory requirements

Incorporate these additional counseling sessions into your default prevention programs. These counseling sessions include:

- Financial Literacy - provides a 12-step approach to money management and financial literacy education. In addition to entrance counseling, some schools require the Financial Literacy counseling to be completed before the first disbursement of the loan.
- Grace Period and Repayment - serves as a post-exit counseling session and reminds students of some of the different available repayment options.
- Loan Management - designed for students in their last year of school, providing information on student loans, financial literacy, and education and career planning tips.
- Non-Traditional Student - provides schools with a resource specifically targeted to help non-traditional students.
- Private Loan - provides students with basic information about private loans to help them decide if a private loan is right for their situation.

To experience any of these sessions from the student perspective, go the Mapping Your Future home page, click on the "complete Online Counseling" link on the left side of the page, select the appropriate counseling session in the "Other counseling" category, choose Texas as the state, and select MYF Demo School as your school.

Online Counseling Report and Customization Options

Mapping Your Future's Online Counseling offers detailed reports and simplifies the task of retaining comprehensive documentation for future activities, including audit documentation or default prevention purposes. Report format options include printable RTF reports, TXT, CSV, or XML formats.

Schools can meet the regulatory requirements to provide school-specific information and provide important financial literacy and money management information using Mapping Your Future's customization options. The customization options include a customized page at the beginning of the counseling session and the ability to direct the students to another website at the end of the counseling session, such as your website or another step in the loan application process.
